A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.
 This is the great discovery of our day, about which so little is known and so few have heard, and has, we understand, been used in the Continental Hospitals by Kloss, Rostan, Joubert, Volp, and others, the well-known Chemist, and is used by all who are regarded as authorities in such matters, including the celebrated Lillienfeld, and those by whom it was some time since introduced, and that it is worthy the attention of those who require such a remedy, we think there is no doubt. From the time downwards, a potent agent in the removal of these diseases (the last of the phlogistication) has been the object of search of some householders, and for beyond the mere power of such could ever have been discovered, and the discovery of a remedy so potent as to replace the failing energies of the continued use of the one case, and in the other so effectively, speedily and safely as to give the patient the full benefit of the cure, and to leave no trace of the disease behind, such a discovery is a great boon to the world.

THE "TIMES" CORRESPONDENT AND THE STRAITS.

THE "INEVITABLE UNION" OF THE COLONY AND F.M.S.

In the Times of the last mail there appears a long letter on the Straits Settlements, some of the statements in which will call for considerable comment in quarters exercised. Despite the correspondent we do not suppose that "the contractors cannot hope for much sympathy from the local Government"—in the matter of labour supplies; Government would be adopting an extremely foolish policy, if it were to take up the lines of "passive resistance" inferred by the correspondent. The remarks on Penang will be read with peculiar interest by all who have studied the question of the federation of the Colony and F.M.S. The correspondent talks of the inevitable union and leads one to think he has in view the idea of the incorporation of the F.M.S. under the British crown. The correspondent says: "The amount of the Tanjong Pagar dock award came as little less than astounding, and, needless to say, shareholders were jubilant, and communications to the world made in their interests have misled English opinion as to the state of public feeling. The award has been characterized here as 'iniquitous,' and, considering the condition into which the property had been allowed to drift, so as to menace seriously the future of the colony, this language is probably not too strong. The original scheme to erect outer harbour moles in order to cater for vessels in competition with Tanjong Pagar, as well as to protect the mosquito fleet, was given up after the intention to expropriate was notified, and a smaller scheme involving boat accommodation, reclamation and quay construction was resolved on the tender of Sir John Jackson and Co. (Limited) being accepted for £1,208,000. Before the terms of the award became known, however, an agitation was started to relinquish the scheme, and at a public meeting held under the auspices of the Straits Settlements Association, which, with the Chamber of Commerce, opposed the proposal, resolutions were passed unanimously against it. The amount of the award when known caused the Government to hesitate before incurring such enormous expenditure, and it attempted unsuccessfully to get the contract rescinded. The decrease in Chinese immigration and the great demand for labour by planters in the Federated Malay States are factors to be overcome by the contractors, who cannot hope for much sympathy from the local Government or the public after their refusal to come to terms.

A representation has been sent to the Secretary of State by some of the more enthusiastic spirits of what is known as the Northern Settlement with the view of obtaining the status of lieutenant-governor for the officer administering, who is at present styled Resident Councillor. It is contended that such an officer would have more power and be less under the direction of the Singapore Secretariat. The European trade of Penang is chiefly in the hands of branch Singapore houses, and when one considers the sparsity of Europeans, numbering less than the residents of a moderately-sized village, it can be understood that class influences are likely to be exercised sometimes prejudicially to the interests of good government. Penang, must exercise patience till the inevitable union of the colony and the Federated Malay States calls for administrative reorganization, when her claims will doubtless secure suitable attention. The contemplated harbour extensions, which include reconstruction of wharves (£8,000,000), formation of a lagoon, and a graving dock (£1,702,000), improvement of the Singapore River (£542,500), and the extension of Penang Pier (£47,000), necessitate a debenture loan, which it is hoped will be obtained at 3 per cent. Meanwhile the Singapore Municipality have been authorized to float locally a loan for £187,000 at 4½ per cent. to cover the cost of, among other works, electric power installation and water and filtration schemes.

THE WHITELY MURDERER.

HISTORY OF HIS CAREER.

BIGAMIST AND BLACKMAILER.

London, January 26th. Rayner was operated upon in the hospital for the self-inflicted wound on his forehead. He is now recovering.

From what can be gathered about his life it appears that Rayner is 27 years of age, and was born in wedlock at Teddington, his parents being respectable people. He had been lodging recently in cheap lodgings owing to his circumstances being straitened. He is a married man, his wife and two children whom he has deserted, living at Bewdley in Worcestershire. Notwithstanding his marriage, however, he became engaged to marry a London barmaid.

For years Rayner was employed as a cashier at Riga, in the east of Russia, but he suddenly left his position there, owing, it is alleged, to embezzlement.

The "Daily Chronicle" states that Rayner's father and Whitley were formerly personal friends, but that the intimacy between them ended because Rayner (senior) threatened to prosecute Whitley for slander.

The police describe young Rayner's request to Whitley on Thursday as one of impetuous blackmail, based on a reopening of the old incident in which his father and Whitley was concerned.

A SILLY SAYING.

"It is a common but silly opinion prevailing among a certain class of people that the worse a remedy tastes, smells or hurts, the more efficacious it is." So, says a well-known English physician. He further adds: "For example, let us consider cod liver oil. As it is extracted from the fish this oil is so offensive to the taste and smell that almost everybody abhors it, and many cannot use it at all, no matter how badly they need it. Yet cod liver oil is one of the most valuable drugs in the world, and it is the greatest pity that we have not thus far been able to free it from those peculiarities which so seriously interfere with its usefulness." This was written years ago; the work of civilizing and redeeming it however has since been triumphantly accomplished; and as a leading ingredient in the remedy called the oil retains all its wonderful curative properties with no bad smell or taste whatever. It is palatable as honey, and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry; creating a medicine of unequalled power for the diseases most prevalent and fatal among men, women, and children. There is no other remedy to compare with it. It increases the digestive power of the stomach and in Blood Impurities, Weakness, Loss of Flesh, Throat and Lung Troubles, Nervous Dyspepsia, Scrofulous Affections, Thinness and Slow Development in the young, it gives quick and certain relief and cure. Dr. G. C. Shannon, of Canada, says: "I shall continue its use with, I am sure, great advantage to my patients and satisfaction to myself." Has all the virtues of cod liver oil; none of its faults. You may trust it fully; it cannot disappoint or fail. One bottle convinces. Sold by all chemists.

WAMPOL'S PREPARATION

THE OPIUM TRADE.

The first step towards the extinction of the opium trade appears to have been initiated by the Home Government. The important announcement which we made in last evening's issue regarding the determination of the Indian Government to reduce the forthcoming sale of opium by 400 chests per month points to the fact that the gradual extinction of the export trade in the drug from the Indian Empire is aimed at by the authorities at Home. The conformity with the supposed wishes of the Chinese Government is apparent when it is considered that one of the clauses of the Imperial edict, promulgated in respect of the abolition of the opium traffic, provided that opium should be wiped out in China within ten years from the publication of the decree. We have time and again contended in these columns that the Chinese Government cannot be taken seriously as entertaining the purely Utopian idea that a drug such as opium can be eradicated from the Empire within that short space of time. It would be a millennium which might be devoutly wished for, but as a writer in the Pail Mall Gazette suggested the other day, could only be entered by a few young missionaries who know as much about China from its commercial side as those at Home do who are agitating, and apparently with some success, for the abolition of a legitimate trade, which contributes so large a proportion of the revenue of the Indian exchequer. Incidentally, what would reduce the sources of revenue by the restriction of the cultivation and sale of the herb in India would affect Hongkong in a very material way. As a matter of fact our revenue would be affected to the extent of no less than a million and a quarter a year, in the making of which those who decry the trade have shown no possible means of counter-balancing. It is also curious to note that these self-complacent agitators, who have the cause of China so much at heart, or pretend to advance the interests of the people, who they allege are beyond redemption, being addicted to a habit which has endured for centuries, should ignore the vices which afflict the European nations. They would in no way be disturbed by the reduction in the revenue derivable from the trade which is one of the mainstays of the Indian treasury. The material reduction in the sale of the drug would necessitate the reduction in the output of the poppy, and hence, the reduction in the area of its cultivation under the terms of the Chinese edict, while the growth of the plant in the northern territories of India would be a thing of the past. How the present Government will reconcile its abolition, in the light of events in the future, time alone can tell, but it needs no prophetic eye to discern that in spite of all the promises of mandarins in the Middle Kingdom we may find an increase rather than a decrease in the cultivation of the plant within China herself.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A NAGASAKI telegram states that a Russian squadron, consisting of the battleships Tsura-jima and Slava, and the cruiser Rugelyr, bound for the Far East, left Cadix for Gibraltar a few days ago.

ONE of the most acceptable office presents has been issued by Messrs. D. and J. McCullum, of Edinburgh, the well-known distillers of "Perfection" whisky fame. It takes the form of a blotter, with diary and note-pad attached and should certainly commend itself to recipients. Messrs. H. Price & Co. are the agents in Hongkong for the distributing firm and the gift should unquestionably give a flip to the brand they parvey.

TELEGRAPHIC protests are still being received from the Japanese in Hawaii and California in regard to the proposed new immigration agreement. The Asahi discussing the proposals, expresses the hope that no retaliatory restrictions will be imposed by Japan, but points out in regard to Americans employed in Japan that it may be desirable to exercise more strict regulations than those which are already in force and are quite reasonable. —N. C. D. News.

MR. C. A. D. Melbourn, at the Police Court, this morning, imposed a fine of $25, with the alternative of one month's imprisonment, on the owner of the steam-launch Lee Fat for allowing his launch to run in the waters of the Colony without having on board a certificated master. The person who had control of the launch when the police boarded it last week was no other than a man whose certificate was recently suspended by the Harbour-master.

MR. JOHN LYSAGHT, of Wanchai Road, gave a coolie in charge at Hung-hom Police Station yesterday on a charge of stealing eighty-two bamboo cheques. The case was heard before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, this morning. After telling the Court how he discovered this theft, Mr. Lysaght went on to say that each man is paid according to the number of cheques he possesses. Of late it was discovered when the accounts were made out that there were more cheques than there were men employed in the works. The accused was sent to goal for three weeks and ordered to be exposed in the stocks for six hours.

H. E. TANG is now so depressed that he has decided to send in his resignation as Senior Vice-President of the Yuchu-yau and Acting Junior Vice-President of the Wai-yu (Ministry of Foreign Affairs) after the Chinese New Year. The results of such a step should be known before the end of the current month or at the beginning of March. It is believed in Chinese official circles that H. E. Tang would be permitted to resign his responsible appointments if he sends in his resignation, because he has lost favour with the Empress Dowager and the Manchu Government, and that he will follow the example of H. E. Wu Tsang-fang (formerly Chinese minister to the U.S.A.), who resigned his post and returned to Canton several months ago. —N. C. D. News.

HONGKONG HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

DISPLAY AT THE GARDENS.

President: Mr. J. Barton.

Committee: Mr. J. Barton, Mrs. Brewin, Mr. Choa Leep Chee, Mr. D. W. Craddock, Mr. S. T. Dunn, Mr. L. Gibbs, Mr. A. E. Griffin, Mr. F. Howell, Mrs. Jordan, Mr. E. Osborn, Mrs. Turner.
Mr. L. Gibbs, Honorary Secretary and Treasurer.

Another success has been scored by the exhibitors at the Hongkong Horticultural Society's show which opened at the Botanical Gardens to-day. It was hardly to be expected that so much could have been done in a couple of years and there is ample evidence that the idea suggested by his Excellency the Governor should have borne fruit so rapidly. While there was an excellent show of blooms by residents at the Peak, the Championship was won by a gentleman living on the lower level—Mr. Fred. Howell. There is still much room for improvement in the display by those who indulge in the recreation of kitchen gardening and it is to be regretted that the native gardeners of the New Territory have failed so far to come up to expectations. It is noteworthy that the first prizes for potatoes was gained by one residing in the New Territory—Sergeant Kerr, of Ping Shan Police Station—while only one to prove that if the native cultivators took an interest in the exhibition they would carry away a goodly proportion of the prizes. On the whole, however, the show which opened to-day is well worth a visit and is bound to prove a greater success than last year's show.

Appended is the prize list:—

The Wreck of the "Berlin."

LONDON, 24th February.
The three remaining women passengers have been saved from the wreck.

Wreck of an Austrian Lloyd Steamer.

Trieste reports the loss of the Austrian Lloyd steamer Imperatrix from Trieste to Bombay, carrying a crew of 120 and passengers.

The vessel grounded on Cape el Alphonsi, in Crete, during a gale, and sank, with a loss of lives.

Reuter's correspondent at Canca relating the stranding says that French and Italian warships have gone to the scene, and that no victims are reported. It is uncertain which story is correct.

Later.

The later accounts concerning the loss of the Imperatrix are still confused, but it is clear that the vessel is in a most dangerous position. The disaster happened at night. There were 200 passengers on board, and it is feared that the loss of life is heavy. Twelve people have got ashore, but they are too exhausted to give a narrative of the wreck.

WAS IT ATTEMPTED SUICIDE?

A MYSTERIOUS CHINESE WOMAN.

Sergeant G'Sullivan, of Hunghom Police Station, arranged a young and rather good-looking Chinese woman before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, at the Police Court, this morning, to answer a charge of attempted suicide. The excuse the woman gave for attempting to take her life was scarcely probable. Her husband, she said, had two sisters. They did all the house-work and would not allow her to do any. That was the cause, she alleged, of her attempting suicide. Her lips, hands and clothing were smeared with opium when she was taken to the station, and the police are of opinion that by doing so the woman had something in view. The woman lived with her family at No. 44, Kowloon Road, and as far as could be learnt there have been some domestic troubles for some time. This morning, the young woman, Leung Lai, said she had drunk opium and was promptly taken to the Hunghom Police Station and thence to the hospital. The woman, it was alleged, did not drink the poison—she only poured it over herself—by doing so she thought it would bring her husband to terms. The Court bound her over to keep the peace for a year.

WONG-NEI-CHONG RESIDENTS STARLED.

A FIRE ON THE HILLSIDE.

A correspondent writes:—While the residents of Wong-nei-chong Road were quietly enjoying their afternoon tea and discussing the topics of the morning, they were greatly startled by a strange noise which was being made in the street. It began with yells and screams, followed by the scuffling of footsteps, and the blowing of a police whistle, which it was feared was never going to stop. The noise threw the whole neighbourhood into consternation. Men, women and children—some in their hurry forgot to leave their napkins behind—rushed into the street to ascertain the cause of the disturbance. Up a tree a lukong was seen blowing his whistle—perhaps it was alleged, he thought that from his perch aloft all the police stations in the Colony would hear him. Down the hillside a coolie rushed and broke the news that the hill was on fire. A glance in that direction showed the cause of the disturbance. Half an acre of grass and shrub was burning brightly. Immediately a fire-fighting force was organized, consisting of the leading residents of that locality, and steps were taken to extinguish the blaze. One gentleman was seen hurrying to the scene with a glass of water, another with a syringe; a lady, who appeared to be directing the operations from the street, suggested to a third to get a blanket, a number of others carried sticks, while another volunteer was dispatched to the nearest telephone to call up the fire brigade. Then a start was made by the volunteers to squelch the fire. They, no doubt, took things very seriously indeed, but at the same time there was the amusing side. The gentleman with the syringe had only one squirt, which, he said, would have saved the trouble of the brigade had he not dropped it into the fire. The volunteers with the sticks did the best work of the lot. They hammered away at the fire and by the time the fire brigade limped to the scene there was only left a heap of smouldering ashes. This was eventually killed and the Wong-nei-chong residents left the scene, wondering when the next scare was coming along.

FIRE ON BOARD THE "SHAMMUT."

SMART WORK BY THE CREW.

CARGO SLIGHTLY DAMAGED.

The Boston Steamship and Towboat Company's steamer Shammut, Captain Roberts, which arrived at Kobe from Hongkong late on Thursday afternoon, left early yesterday morning for Yokohama. About 8.30 a.m., when the steamer was in the Kii Channel, it was discovered that No. 2 hold was on fire, reports the Japan Chronicle of Feb. 17.

An alarm was immediately raised, and all hands turned out to extinguish the outbreak. So successful were the efforts of the crew that the fire was put out before any serious damage was done to the cargo in the hold. It is stated by the Kobe Water Police that the No. 2 hold was loaded with hemp, which had been taken on board at Manila and Shanghai for Yokohama.

The Shammut was put about, and returned to Kobe about ten o'clock yesterday morning.

A representative of the Chronicle went on board the Shammut yesterday afternoon, and obtained some particulars of the fire from Captain E. V. Roberts. The captain stated that the Shammut left Kobe about six o'clock yesterday morning, and in addition to the cargo of hemp and matting there were 32 Japanese emigrants on board, bound for the United States. When the ship was about to pass through the Kii Channel it was discovered that No. 2 hold was on fire. The crew at once stood by the pumps, and within twenty minutes the fire was completely got under. The damage done to the cargo by fire was not serious, stated Captain Roberts, but considerable damage was done by water. This damaged cargo was being discharged yesterday afternoon, after which the Shammut was to resume her voyage to Yokohama.

ANOTHER SHIP FIRE.

NARROW ESCAPE OF THE "KAWACHI-MARU."

FOUR LIGHTERS ABLAZE IN KOBE HARBOUR.

The following report is taken from the Japan Chronicle of Feb. 19:—On Sunday afternoon at 3.15 a fire occurred in the harbour, which had it not been for prompt action of the Chief Officer of the Kawachi-maru, might have resulted disastrously for that vessel. The Kawachi-maru arrived in Kobe on Saturday from London, via ports, with a full cargo, amongst which was a large quantity of oil, paint, and chemicals. On Sunday afternoon discharging was actively proceeding and several lighters were grouped together receiving cargo from the hold. Two lighters were full and a third was nearly ready to leave the ship's side, when, just as some barrels of chlorate of soda had been released from the sling into the lighter, a rush of flame burst from the barrels. In less than a minute the lighter, which was laden with oil, pitch, paint and chlorate of soda, was ablaze from stem to stern. The coolies on board the neighbouring lighters were panic-stricken, and several jumped into the sea. One, who could not swim, would have fared very badly had it not been for a lifebuoy which was thrown to him by the First Engineer of the Kawachi-maru. The wind, which was blowing strongly off-shore, fanned the flames on to the Kawachi-maru and Mr. McClelland, the Chief Officer, who had been vainly endeavouring to persuade a tug to tow the burning lighter away from the steamer's side, immediately gave a fire alarm.

In a remarkably short space of time four lines of hose were placed in position by the Japanese crew and steady streams of water were directed down the ship's side; the heat from the burning lighter being so great as to scorch the paint on the walls of the hold. The cargo in this hold was chiefly oil and paint, and the men worked hard to prevent these igniting. By this time many launches had arrived, but could not approach the lighter owing to the intense heat and the many explosions of the oil barrels; and they had to watch three other lighters catch fire without being able to get them clear. These lighters were cut adrift from the Kawachi-maru by the Chief Officer's orders with a view to enabling the launches to tow them away, and they now drifted astern, on the way setting fire to the Kawachi-maru's boats and rigging. Under the orders of the Chief Officer two lines of hose were taken aft, where they threw steady streams of water on the boats and woodwork which were now well alight. Smoke was observed coming from the laboratories aft, and it was found necessary to send a line of hose along owing to the woodwork having caught fire. At about 3.45 the four burning lighters had drifted astern of the Kawachi-maru and the police launches were soon pouring streams of water into three of them that were laden with sheet iron, rails, machinery, etc. The fourth, which had nearly burnt itself out, was connected with a launch and was towed towards Mirume, twice getting adrift, however, owing to the low rope burning, and distributed to the neighbouring steamers volumes of suffocating smoke which emanated from its burning cargo of oil and paint.

The fire on the Kawachi-maru was soon extinguished, and great credit is due to the Chief Officer and men, not only for the expedition with which the hose was got ready, but for the able manner in which they coped with the fire, despite the difficulties under which they had to labour. The Chief Officer is also deserving of praise for the fore-sight and promptitude displayed. Besides the damage to the Kawachi-maru four lighters belonging to the Kobe Pier Company and their contents were more or less damaged one being entirely destroyed. We understand the damage is covered by insurance, but until an inquiry is instituted no estimate of the loss can be arrived at. At present the immediate cause of the fire is unknown.

THE JAPAN SUGAR-TAX RE-IMBURSEMENT LAW.

QUESTIONS IN THE DIET.

The views of the Government delegate on the above-named measure, given during the proceedings of the Committee which is discussing the Bill in the House of Representatives, will be read with interest. The delegate stated in effect that the measure is merely a temporary one, to bridge over the period of five years between the coming fiscal year and 1911, when the existing Conventional Customs Tariffs expire. The proposed measures for reimbursement are considered to be the most effective for harmonising the interests of sugar-refiners and raw sugar producers in Japan. In the Bill the amount of reimbursement on sugar under No. 18 Dutch standard is reduced by 20 sen on the existing rate, and on sugar under No. 15 by 30 sen. If the reimbursement of the tax was entirely discontinued, the sugar-refining industry in Japan would be killed. Under the present state of the sugar industry in this country, a 5 per cent. ad valorem duty on imported raw sugar was considered sufficient, and the re-imbursements of 20 sen and 30 sen respectively were equivalent to 5 per cent. of the value of imported raw sugars of the qualities mentioned. The amount of reimbursement was reduced by the sums referred to, and to that extent the sugar-producing industry in Formosa and Okinawa (Luchu) would be benefited by the new measure, as the sugar refiner would have to pay for imported raw sugar 20 or 30 sen more than for the products of Formosa and Okinawa.

The total output of refined sugar in Japan in the year 1905 was 154,000,000 kin, including 24,600,000 kin on the mainland, 45,600,000 kin on various islands, and 83,800,000 kin in Formosa. The authorities of the Formosan Government and of the Department of Agriculture and Commerce hoped to increase the annual output of refined sugar to 500,000,000 kin. The import of raw sugar during last year totalled about 100,000,000 kin. It was the desire of the Government to develop the sugar-refining industry in Japan at least to such an extent as to enable it to cope successfully with foreign sugar admitted with only 5 per cent. duty. The industry must not be allowed to remain until 1911 in such a primitive state that it has to be sold at a figure necessitating a duty of 40 per cent. on the foreign product in order to equalise the price. The term of the Conventional Tariffs on sugar with Great Britain and Germany expires in 1911, and therefore the term of the present Bill expires on July 16th, 1911.

At the proceedings of the committee on the Bill on Friday, Mr. Mitsui stated that when a Customs duty of 8.7 sen on refined sugar was deducted from the re-imbursement of ¥2.25, and a balance was repaid, it would amount to admitting raw sugar duty-free, which would enable sugar refined in Japan to successfully compete with foreign sugar. The sugar-refining business in Japan was a very lucrative one, paying a dividend at the rate of 37 per cent. annum, and the home industry might be able to successfully compete with the foreign product by sacrificing this large profit in part, even without receiving any bounty.

Mr. Wada, Vice-Minister for Agriculture and Commerce, stated that the Japanese sugar-refineries would be placed on the same footing as the foreign industry by the measures suggested by Mr. Mitsui, but a more decisive course would have to be taken for checking the import of sugar. The Vice-Minister was inclined to disagree with Mr. Mitsui in regard to the profits of sugar-refineries. The Vice-Minister pointed out that the large profit made was chiefly due to large imports of sugar in anticipation of the operation of the new Customs Tariff as it was repeatedly amended; the profit was not made by the actual working of the companies. It would be quite impossible to make such huge profits in the future.

Mr. Mitsui further inquired which policy the Government considered preferable for this country under the present state of industries—to protect the industry of sugar-refining, which was of an industrial nature, or the industry of producing raw sugar of an agricultural nature. The Vice-Minister replied that energy must be exercised to develop both industries alike.

Mr. Nanjo asked why it was necessary to maintain the legislation for developing the sugar industry in Japan. Did the Government deem it necessary to retain the legislation even for protecting the sugar-producing industry in Formosa?

The Vice-Minister stated that the output of raw sugar in Formosa was at present inadequate to supply the demand for raw sugar in Japan.

Mr. Watanabe asked for the estimated output of raw sugar in Formosa in 1911. Mr. Iwai, Director of the Formosan Civil Administration, after dwelling upon the condition of the sugar-producing industry in Formosa at some length, stated that the producing capacity of various companies in the island was expected to develop in the near future until the output of sugar amounted in value to ¥200,000,000. The official added that the committee could easily imagine the effect of the Bill, when passed, on the sugar industry in Formosa. After some further questions had been put and answered, the meeting rose.

The Yokohama Chamber of Commerce has addressed a memorial to the Premier and the Ministers for Finance and Agriculture and Commerce, urging that the continuation of the existing sugar-tax reimbursement law was necessary for the developing of the sugar-refining industry. The leading sugar-merchants of Yokohama have also addressed petitions to the two Houses of the Diet to a similar effect.—Japan Chronicle.

The Viceroy of Minche Provinces has wired that owing to great loss sustained by the naval Dockyard, it would be well that the same shall be made a commercial undertaking. The Viceroy hopes to appoint Chen Pao-shen, the Director, and Hu Kuo-lian, the Associate Director, and has already raised two million taels for the purpose.

S.S. "HAILAN" STRANDED.

PASSENGERS SAFE.

A private telegram was received in the Colony yesterday that the French steamer Hailan, Capt. L. Anderson, had stranded on her recent voyage from Hongkong to Hoihow. When a representative of the Hongkong Telegraph called at the office of the agents of the steamer this morning to verify the report, Messrs. A. R. Marty & Co. courteously supplied us with all the information they were then in possession concerning the mishap. Only meagre details are so far available. The Hailan left Hongkong on the 19th inst. bound for Hoihow. She carried seven European passengers and a general cargo. The steamer stranded at a point between Hainan Head and Mofu. Later without any assistance, Captain Anderson succeeded in refloating the steamer; but as she was making some water he decided to beach her. He did so, and the Hailan now lies safely on a sandy beach in a perfectly sheltered position awaiting assistance from Hongkong. The passengers and crew are all safe.

At the time of our representative's visit this morning, Messrs. Marty were completing arrangements for the despatch of salving gear, etc. to the Hailan, and it was expected that all necessary assistance would be got ready to be despatched to the rescue of the stranded vessel by to-morrow morning.

THE INCREASE IN THE GOLD OUTPUT.

The output of gold has been increasing for nearly twenty years now on a scale never before witnessed in historical times. Practically the output of gold is now more than four times larger than it was 20 years ago. Therefore it is reasonable to infer that the immense increase in the production of gold has begun to tell upon the prices of commodities, and that the wonderful trade prosperity which is being experienced all over the world is, to a certain extent, at all events, one of the consequences of the enormously increased production of gold. If that be so, the phenomenon is not at all dangerous as at first sight it seems. If prices were carried up, as they have been carried up for example, in the case of copper, diamonds, steel, and so on by sheer speculation, there could be no doubt at all that the movement was tactitious, that it would come to an end after a while, and that there would be a serious setback.

But if the upward movement is due, in any material degree, to the enormously increased production of gold, then speculation does not play anything like so large a part in the movement as one is tempted to believe at the first glance. And, consequently, the movement may continue very much longer than would ordinarily appear probable. Furthermore, if the gold production is having the effects we are referring to, the very high rates of interest and discount are not so inimical to good trade and even to business on the Stock Exchange as is generally supposed. The augmented supply of gold increasing enormously the reserves of the great banks of the world has given a fillip to enterprise in every direction. That increased enterprise has required a larger capital to carry it on.

At the same time, the rise in prices due to the increase in the gold output has also required a larger amount of money to carry on the trade of the world, and thus while, on the one hand, the gold supply is immensely increased, on the other, the whole trade of the world is increased on a still greater scale, and therefore the demand for what is called money—what really is capital to credit—is on a still greater scale. And, as prices are improving and actively increasing, borrowers are able to pay much more highly for accommodation than they could pay in the times when a restricted supply of gold was constantly threatened to bring about a collapse of the stimulated enterprises.—London Statist.

INTERESTING TO PHILATELISTS.

Among the hordes of rascals who live by swindling collectors, there is a very fair sprinkling of stamp "fakers." These men not only sophisticate genuine stamps, but turn out forgeries by the thousand; and their productions are so numerous that unless the amateur philatelist is exceptionally shrewd and well-informed, or deals solely with firms which have a reputation to lose, he is certain to get a lot of more or less bogus specimens in his album.

Printing forgeries is so regular an industry that there are imitations on the market of nearly every stamp of value. Of some issues, indeed, there are nearly a dozen known forgeries, among which are a few decidedly clever. As a rule, however, the best of such shams are easily detected by an expert, because the workmanship is inferior—they are usually lithographed, whereas the originals are engraved—and because there are always minute differences in design, color, etc.

Another form of dodgery consists in putting on the market, for sale to collectors, stamps which have never been issued for postal purposes. Usually these shams are designed and printed simply that they may be cashed in albums; but there was, on one occasion, a very curious exception to this rule.

A gorgeous individual turned up in Paris, and, announcing himself as the ruler of a certain country, gave lavish orders for furniture, clothing, jewellery, and many other things, including a lot of stamps that he purported to have used for postal purposes in his own realm. The printer had them thrown on his hands, as the "king" turned out to be one of those self-constituted monarchs who gull business men. So, notwithstanding that they had never been to the country to which they were accredited, they were postmarked in Paris and palmed off on innocent collectors as a genuine issue.

From the collector's point of view, there is, of course, an enormous gulf between an original and a reissue, even when the latter is not marked "reprint," or is nearly indistinguishable from that actually used for postal purposes, as in the case of the Portuguese stamps. Indeed, high-class dealers neither buy nor sell reprints.

But a "fakir" frequently fakes a reprint on a collector. If, for instance, it is one issued unguessed for the purpose of showing that it is not an original, he will gum it. Or, if it is gummed, but not like the first issue, he will wash it and give it a fresh layer. At little arts of this kind he is an expert, and by them he greatly enhances the market value of his wares.

"Fakirs" can also make a good stamp out of two pieces which are worthless in themselves. Suppose a man gets one which has the corner missing. First of all he cuts out a scrap which will exactly fit in the vacant place. Then, if there is paper at the back of the damaged stamp, he brings it away by soaking, cuts a fresh square, gums it, and deftly joins the two pieces on it, so that the whole looks like a stamp which has come from a letter. If, on drying, the join shows, he proceeds to cover it up with a postmark, which he makes with a pen and some special ink.

When finished the "fake" will pass muster better than might be supposed. Still an expert can detect it for what it is. He holds it up to the light or bends it, whereupon its real character usually becomes clear. Sometimes, however, a suspected stamp is soaked in water or even boiled—a test which the most carefully joined pieces cannot undergo with success.

THE SPECULATING CRAZE.

TOKYO JOURNAL'S WARNING TO RUSTICS.

The Tokyo Mainichi, in a strongly-worded article, headed "Disorder in Economic Circles," addresses a warning to the people in the rural districts, many of whom have been the victims of unscrupulous speculators. The disorder prevailing in the economic circles of the country is becoming worse and worse every day, writes our Tokyo contemporary, and Tokyo has become a pandemonium of speculators. Cries for new companies are loud and general, shares are flying in the air, and men are mad. Men are nothing unless they deal in shares. Everybody talks of shares, nothing but shares. Soldiers buy shares by pawning their orders and M.P.'s go to Chicago, absconding themselves from the House. Suzuki has made so many millions, and Fukuzawa has gained so much. The report is spread far and wide, and magnified as it is circulated. The minds of the country folk are moved and disturbed, and they imagine that fortune can be made by gambling in shares. With money earned by the sweat of their brow or obtained by disposing of estates handed down to them from their forefathers, the people from the rural districts congregate in Tokyo, where they are at the mercy of the professional speculators.

According to investigations made by the Metropolitan Police the number of such people assembling in Tokyo is said to be not less than one thousand every day. Notwithstanding the optimistic view held by Dr. Sakatani it is indisputable, the Mainichi continues, that the country's economy is in a deranged condition; members of the House of Representatives are hood-winking their constituents for their selfish purposes. Despite the favourable reports circulated by journalists who have been bribed, there is no doubt that many of the new companies are fraudulent concerns. It is really deplorable that many of the country folk, not knowing this, are running after the speculators who are their worst enemies.
